CROWN DEPENDENCIES

INSURANCE DISPUTES

Our expert Insurance team based in the Isle of Man, have over thirty years experience and are highly regarded for their work in dealing with a broad range of Insurance related disputes. The team also have well-established relationships with leading onshore law firms meaning our clients have access to a truly cohesive approach to matters that have a combination of onshore and offshore elements.

Insurance disputes can arise from insured risks, claims or policy disputes, and also as a result of unprecedented regulatory challenges and our responsive and solution driven team has represented insurers in numerous complex litigation and mediation matters. We advise on a range of matters representing both insurers and their clients in claims against them as well as dealing with matters relating to the interpretation and enforcement of policies.

We combine our significant experience with the legal and commercial acumen required to obtain a desirable and commercially minded resolution for our clients in what is an increasingly challenging and competitive field.

We represent a wide range of clients, including local Government, leading insurers and commercial clients across a wide variety of insurance disciplines. Our team is experienced in all types of insurance disputes, including personal injury, professional negligence and liability claims. We represent clients in all levels of the Isle of Man High Court of Justice and have also appeared in the Coroner's Court.

"Highly responsive and commercially minded. Effective and efficient in providing practical solutions"
